New York, May 17. W. E. Simonds, late commissioner of patents, said to-day concerning the charge made against his official conduct while at the head of the Patent Bureau: There is nothing in the charges which will hold water. They are partly made through Ignorance and are partly lies deliberately made up for the charges which will hold water. They are partly made through Ignorance and are partly lies deliberately made up for the purpose of injuring me. It is the first time in a long career of public life that my character has ever been assailed. As to the charge that I have allowed to be copied applications pending in the patent office in violation of the law, I will say there is no law to prevent anything to be kept from the public save the caveats filed in the patent office. This matter was decided some time ago by Judge Lacombe. The other charge that I took advantage of my position to publish a pamphlet entitled "A Condemned Treatise on the Lew of Patents, is ridiculous."

HOLDEN—I think that farm stock is somewhat thinner in condition than it was last year, as about the usual amount of stock has been carried on a much smaller amount of fodder, though to quite an extent the lack of fodder has been supplemented by the feeding of additional grain, as quite a large proportion of the farmers feed grain to their stock, particularly cows. There has been no particular increase in any kind of stock. The tendency is for the better in the care of all kinds of stock. C. G. BRACKETT.

His reflections developed into suspleis, and he suddenly left for the continent on a mission of his own devising. On his return he proceeded straight to the count's" lodgings in Dover street, St. James, and remained closeted with Jaracewskii for some time. When he left, his face was singularly grave, and on the following morning the landlord of the house in Dover street brought the startling news to Mariborough House that the count had been found dead in his bed as the result of an overdose of morphine.

It subsequently became generally known that Count Jaracewski was not a nobleman at all, but that he was merely the son of a dishonest servant who after being kicked outlof his master's chateau for unlimited pilfering had set up he a village usurer with the proceeds of his plunder. The soi disant count himself had served a term of imprisonment for forgery. Thoughts About Change. In the last campaign a great deal was said about the desirability of a change n the administration of the affairs of the government, and the people were told of the numerous blessings that would follow a change from Republican to Democrat c control. Well, the change has taken place and the New York Tribune, under the above caption, points out some of the effects in the following article:

We have had three Democratic victories In ten years. The lowest prices known in those ten years have followed these three Democratic victories. President Cleveland was a ceted in November, 1884, and on May 7 for the prices of the prices on May 7, _885, two months after his irauguration stocks dropped to the lowest point since 1873. An overwhelming Democratic victory in 1890 promised a change of governmental policy and within a few days, on November 15, stocks dropper to the lowest point since 1885. President Clevel and was elected last year, and.

again two months afterhis inauguration, on May 13, stocks dropped to the lowest point since 1885 These are mere coincldences it is said. But how long must such coincidences recur before the people begin to find a law under them? Other circumstances, of course, contributed to the depression in each of these cases, as in every other case of extreme low prices. In 1885 the country had not recovered from the stock panic of the previous year In 1890 the Baring failure histoned English unloading of American stocks. THRILLING RESCUE.

Down Off Cape Cod.

The steamer Lewiston arrived in port about 7 o'clock last eyening, having the most miraculous rescues ever recorded by the Gloncoster fishermen was reported to-day by Capt. John McInniss, of the schooner Edith McInniss, on arrival this evening, from the Graud Banks. About, seven o'clock this morning, twenty miles doutheast of Cape Cod, he sighted a vessel flying signals of distress and laboring heavily with the sea breaking over her.

All sall was crowded on, but before they McInnis could reach the disabled card troop of a boat. The seas would wash there off, when they would swim back and regain their hold. The dory was launched with great difficulty and Capt. McInnis of with two of the crew who volunteered, succeeded in rescuing the men, who were nearly drowned. After they were brought aboard nourishment was given them and after a while they revived.

The lost vessel was the schooner Lamartin, Capt. Eben Eaton, a crew of three men, 98 tons burthen, and belonging in Deer Isle, Maino. She was owned by S. G. Haskell of that place and sailed Monday from Green's Landing for New York with a cargo of cut stone, consigned to Booth Bros. After leaving she had moderately thick weather until Toesday evening. PROOFE ISLAND POLITICS.

Rill to Prevent a Democratic Scheme.
PROVIDENCE, May 17. A bill was introduced into the House of Representatives to-day, the object of which is to head off the contemplated unsenting of Republicans by the Democrats of the next House before the, voting of the Grand Committee for the election of State officers. The bill myself unselled the professors. Hole in the Head.

The body of Thomas Pallister, who, with Frank W. Roelil, escaped from the death house of Sing Sing prison during the tempest that raged on the night of April 20th, was found Tuesday floating in the Hodson river, within half a mile from the spot where Roehl's body was picked up on the morning of May 10.

While the finding of Fallister clears up the mystery surrounding his whose abouts it deepens the problem as to who cheated the State out of the two lives it was entitled to end. The Hudson river was not the executioner. The men were dead before they fell or were thrown into the water. committee for the election of State offi-cers. The bill makes it mandatory upon the presiding officers of each branch to accept the rolls of members as prepared by the Secretary of State. Penalty for refusal is from one to three years? im-prisonment in county jail.
